

GLUTEN FREE BEER

(7)	Lakefront New Grist	12 oz.	5	Wisconsin
-----	----------------------------	---------------	----------	------------------

NON-ALCOHOLIC BEER

(1)	Bitburger Drive	12 oz.	5	Germany
-----	------------------------	---------------	----------	----------------

CIDER

(Listed Driest to Sweetest)

Made from fermented apple juice, cider comes in a number of varieties. English cider is dry, with fruity, tannic qualities and low carbonation. This can be found cask-conditioned in England.

(1001)	Aaron Burr Mamakating Hollow	16.9 oz.	25	Wurtsboro, NY
(7)	Graft Farm Flor	12 oz.	7	Newburgh, NY
(1005)	Weidman & Groh Speierling	1 liter	30	Germany
(7)	Cornouaille ACP Manoir de Kinkiz	25.4 oz.	29	France
(7)	Naked Flock Hard Cider	22 oz.	15	Warwick, NY
(1)	Doc's Draft Hard Apple Cider	12 oz.	6	Warwick, NY
(7)	Doc's Cassis	22 oz.	14	Warwick, NY
(4)	1911 Hard Cider Raspberry	12 oz.	5	Lafayette
(7)	Freyeisen	12 oz.	10	Germany
(1102)	Aspall Imperial Cider	16.9 oz.	15	England
(601)	Etienne Jerome Dupont Civre Ice Cider 2012	12.7 oz.	47	France
(800)	Millstone Cobbler Cider Peach Wine Blend	25.4 oz.	27	Maryland

What's the deal with cider?

A staple in Britain before the Norman invasion, hard cider is now consumed across the globe (though the British continue to consume nearly half of all cider produced worldwide). Cider's popularity in the United States waned after the 19th century introduction of German lagers, and declined further after Prohibition, but recently cider is making a comeback stateside. From festivals such as Pour the Cour and New York Cider Week, to the growth of domestic brands like Boston Beer Company's popular Angry Orchard, the US cider market is predicted to grow 65 percent between 2011 and 2016. The resurgence of cider prompts many to compare the beverage's composition and potential health benefits to those of beer — especially as it's increasingly popular as a gluten-free option for beer lovers who, well, can't drink beer. But in terms of health benefits (and flavor) each drink is unique and can vary greatly from bottle to bottle.

Hard cider and beer differ dramatically in their composition. Hard cider is made from a combination of yeast and apples. Since most beers are free of fruit juice, their nutritional value looks different from that of cider. Beer is composed of yeast, hops, barley, and other grains that yield a variety of different antioxidants and nutrients.

PILSNERS & LAGERS

CLASSIC GERMAN PILSNER

German pilsners typically come in two varieties, the northern and the southern. Southern examples are akin to a Bohemian pilsner with German hops and less malt. Northern examples are very well-attenuated (leaner in body) and dry.

(1)	Sixpoint Sehr Crisp	12 oz.	6	Brooklyn, NY
(1)	Bitburger	12 oz.	5	Germany

PALE LAGER

The color of pale lager ranges from light bronze to nearly transparent and the alcohol anywhere from 4-6%. Adjunct usage may be quite high, though in some cases the beer is all-malt. One thing that doesn't vary is that neither the malt nor the hops make much of an impression on the palate. These beers are brewed for minimum character, though faint traces of hop or malt may show through. More likely though is that adjuncts like corn will show through, or you'll find notes of higher alcohols (fuel notes) due to the use of high-gravity brewing. The body will be thin and watery, and the finish is typically non-existent.

(4)	San Miguel Light	12 oz.	5	Philippines
-----	-------------------------	---------------	----------	--------------------

PREMIUM LAGER

A beer that straddles between the mainstream Pale Lager and Pilsner. Not all beers that call themselves Premium Lager are, but those that are will typically have a deep gold to light bronze colour, and distinct influence of malt and hops. Overall accent will be malty-to-balanced, alcohol in a slightly tighter range than either Pale Lager or Pilsner (4.5-5.5%). Most often the product of a microbrewery or brewpub, but macrobreweries can make this style if they jack up the hops a bit and make it all-malt.

(1)	Boston Beer Co. Sam Adams	12 oz.	5	Boston
-----	----------------------------------	---------------	----------	---------------

WHEAT ALES & BOCKS

BERLINER WEISSE

Very wheaty, very sour style of Berlin. Berliner weissebier has a barely perceptible hop content, low alcohol, and a sharp character. Often these are laced with syrups to cut the intense acidity, but purists will want to take them neat to enjoy the multi-faceted complexity and thirst-quenching character.

(7) Smuttynose Peach Short Weisse 12 oz. 7 New Hampshire

BELGIAN STYLE White (Witbier)

Belgian style wheat beers are very pale, opaque, with the crisp character of wheat, plus the citric refreshment of orange peel and coriander. Ingredients sometimes also include oats for smoothness, and other spices such as grains of paradise. Serve with light cheeses or mussels.

(1) Avery White Rascal 12 oz. 6 Colorado

GERMAN HEFEWEIZEN

Depending on the style can range from pale and light body to dark brown with full body. Wheat beer is characterized by it's cloudy appearance and it's banana and sometimes vanilla aftertaste.

(7) Schneider Weisse Wiesen Edel-Weisse Organic 17 oz. 9 Germany

(1) Schneider Weisse Original 17oz. 8 Germany

DUNKELWEIZEN

A dark take on the German wheat theme, dunkelweizen have the same banana and clove notes of their pale cousins, but also have earthy, toasty, chocolatey notes from the addition of dark malts. They are "shoulder season" wheat beers to many drinkers - something a little more robust than a hefeweizen for the fall and spring seasons, but not as rich as winter's weizenbocks. Alcohol is between 4.8-5.6% generally, bitterness is low, and carbonation is high.

(7) Weihenstaphaner Dunkel Dark 17 oz. 8 Germany

HELLESBOCK

A helles lager brewed to bock strength, therefore still as strong as traditional bock, but lighter in color and with more hop presence.

(7) Sierra Nevada 30th Anniversary Imperial Helles 25.4 oz 20 California

DOPPELBOCK

Doppel means double and while these are stronger brews than the traditional German bocks, they are typically not twice the strength. Color is light amber to dark brown. Very full body with a high alcoholic flavor. Low hop flavor and aroma.

(7) Augustiner-Brau Maximator 12 oz. 6 Germany

(7) Celebrator Dopplebock 12 oz. 12 Germany

(7) Schloss Eggenberg Samichlaus 2014 12 oz. 12 Austria

(1000) Adirondack Ancient Oak Barrel Aged 2015 22 oz. 18 Lake George, NY

(1102) Schneider Weisse Tap X Mein Cuvée Barrique 2014 12.5 oz. 29 Germany

(7) Schneider Weisse Tap X Mein Cuvée Barrique 2016 12.5 oz. 25 Germany

EISBOCK

A stronger version of Doppelbock. Deep copper to black. Very alcoholic. Typically brewed by freezing a doppelbock and removing resulting ice to increase alcohol content.

(7) Aventinus Weizen Eisbock 2016 11.2 oz 12 Germany

(7) Schneider Weisse Mein Cuvée Barrique 2017 11.2 oz 39 Germany

NON TRADITIONAL, OUT OF THE ORDINARY ALES & LAMBICS

“TRADITIONAL” ALES

These are anything but traditional. A catch-all category that we use to classify all of those ancient or resurrected styles of antiquity that are appearing more and more in brewing today. From sahti to heather ale to sorghum beer to grit, and beers like Adam and Midas Touch, these ales will vary tremendously in character from one another. Many are unhopped, strength can vary, but all are a glimpse into brewing past.

(1011) Robinsons Ginger Old Tom	11.2 oz.	9	England
(1102) Brasserie Dupont Posca Rustica	25.4 oz.	24	Belgium
(1101) Dogfish Head Theobrama	25.4 oz.	25	Delaware
(1101) Dogfish Head Chateau Jiahu	25.4 oz.	25	Delaware
(1102) Dogfish Head Ta henket	25.4 oz.	25	Delaware
(1101) Dogfish Head Etrusca	25.4 oz.	25	Delaware

SOUR ALES

Sour Ales have a strong fruit flavor similar to the aroma, but more intense. Plum, prune, raisin and black cherry are the most common flavors, followed by orange and some spiciness. Sour Ales have an obvious sour or acidic taste, but this characteristic can range from moderate to strong. There is no hop bitterness, but tannins are common. Subsequently, Sour Ales are often described as the most "wine-like" of all beers. Sours are an acquired taste.

(7) Shmaltz He'Brew Funky Jewbelation 2015	22 oz.	25	Clifton Park, NY
(7) Equilibrium There and Back Again Plum	25.4 oz.	27	Middletown, NY
(7) Equilibrium There and Back Again Blackberry	25.4 oz.	27	Middletown, NY
(1101) LoverBeer BeerBera 2015	12.7 oz.	28	Italy
(WC) Rodenbach Vintage 2012	25.4 oz.	45	Belgium
(WC) Rodenbach CaraAère Rouge	25.4 oz.	47	Belgium
(1005) Abbaye de Saint Bon-Chien Oak Aged 2013	25.4 oz.	47	Switzerland
(7) Birrificio Del Ducato Oud Brunello 2015	11.2 oz.	25	Italy

FRUIT BEER

(1014) Sam Smith's Organic Strawberry	18 oz.	11	England
(1103) Dogfish Head Noble Rot	25.4 oz.	29	Delaware
(1101) Unibroue Quelque Chose 2009	25.4 oz.	35	Quebec, Canada

SPICED or HERBED

(1103) Central Waters Headless Heron BBA Pumpkin 2016	22 oz.	24	Wisconsin
(1102) Avery Rumpkin 2014	12 oz.	25	Colorado
(1002) Kortrijk-dUtsel "A Special Hagelands Beer"	25.4 oz.	35	Belgium

LAMBIC

Lambics are wheat beers made with stale hops and fermented with wild yeasts and other microorganisms, traditionally only on the Senne Valley in and around Brussels. The most traditional of the fruit lambics are kriek (cherry) and framboise (raspberry). In modern times, peaches (peche), blackcurrants (cassis), grapes, as well as more exotic fruits are used. Traditional lambics are commonly denoted by the term "oud", which is a reference to "old-style", and these are the most sour. More commonly, though, lambics are sweetened to cut the intense acidity. Serve with sharp cheeses or pickled dishes, or use in the preparation of mussels.

(7) Lindemans Framboise	12 oz.	9	Belgium
(1104) Lambickx Zenne Valley, Private Domain 2011	25.4 oz.	42	Belgium
(1104) Lambickx Wambeek, De Troch 2011	25.4 oz.	42	Belgium

PALE ALES & AMERICAN STRONG ALES

AMBER ALE

A style without definition, amber ales range from bland, vaguely caramel-like beers to products with a fairly healthy malt and hop balance. Often the differentiation between a quality amber and an American Pale is that the amber might have more dark malt character, or a less assertive hop rate.

(7) Roscoe Beer Co. Amber Ale 12 oz. 7 Roscoe, NY

ENGLISH PALE ALE

Classic English Pale Ales are not pale but rather are golden to copper colored and display English variety hop character. Distinguishing characteristics are dryness and defined hop taste, but more malt balance than what you'll typically find in an American Pale Ale. Great to drink with all sorts of meats including roast beef, lamb, burgers, duck, goose, etc. Note that the term 'pale ale' is used in England to signify a bottled bitter, and in that way there is no such thing as 'English Pale Ale' to the English. The style is a North American construct, borne of the multitude of pale ales that pay homage to these bottled bitters - Bass in particular - and therefore the majority of true examples of the style are found outside Britain.

(1) Smuttnose Shoals Pale Ale 12 oz. 5 New Hampshire

AMERICAN PALE ALE

American Pale Ales are light in color, ranging from golden to a light copper color. The style of this beer is defined by the American hops used. American hops typically have high bitterness and aroma. This is a perfect beer for big fare like grilled burgers or combination pizzas, as well as lighter fare like sushi and green salads.

(1) Peak Organic Pale Ale 12 oz. 5 Maine
(1) Captain Lawrence Freschester Pale Ale 12 oz. 6 Elmsford, NY
(1) Pine Island Brewing Charlie's Pale Ale 12oz. 6 Pine Island, NY

AMERICAN STRONG ALE

Not a style per se, but the only logical category to incorporate the plethora of strong, stylistically vague beers coming from American micros these days. Some are related to English Strong Ales but with more hop, while others are ultra-strong variants on the IPA or red ale themes. But no matter how varied their origins or characters might be, all are intense, potent, with generous quantities of hops and malt.

(7) Dogfish Head Palo Santo Marron 2011 12 oz. 8 Delaware
(1102) Stone Arrogant Bastard 22 oz. 18 California
(7) Stone Double Bastard 22 oz. 18 California
(1101) Dogfish Head Raison D'Extra 2007 12 oz. 18 Delaware
(7) Midnight Sun Monks Mistress 22 oz. 19 Alaska
(7) Troegs Mad Elf Grand Cru 25.4 oz. 25 Pennsylvania
(1102) Sierra Nevada 30th Anniversary Grand Cru 25.4 oz. 20 California
(1002) Ithaca THIRTEEN 25.4 oz. 25 Ithaca, NY
(7) Black Hog Disco Pig Brown Brett Braggot 12.7 oz. 25 Connecticut
(1102) Shmaltz Jewbelation 13 Anniversary 22 oz 13 Clifton Park, NY

INDIA PALE ALES, the hoppy stuff

INDIA PALES ALE IPA

This style, the modern version of which has largely been formed in the US, has an intense hop flavor which was used to preserve the beer for the long voyage. India Pale Ale has a golden to copper color with a medium maltiness and body. The aroma is moderate to very strong. IPAs work especially well at cutting the heat of chili, vindaloo or Sichuan cuisine. In England, IPA is often just another name for bitter although some micros are doing their own versions of an American IPA as well.

STRAIGHT UP IPA

(4)	Stone IPA	12 oz.	6	California
(1)	Ithaca Flower Power	12 oz.	7	Ithaca, NY
(1103)	Barrier Oak-Aged Atypical	16.9 oz.	15	Oceanside, NY
(1101)	Singlecut 18-Watt IPA	16.9 oz.	15	Queens, NY

IMPERIAL/DOUBLE IPA

Imperial IPA, Double IPA or DIPa is a strong, often sweet, intensely hoppy version of the traditional India Pale Ale. Bitterness units range upward of 100 IBUs and alcohol begins at 7.5% but is more commonly in the 8.5-10% range. The flavor profile is intense all-round. Unlike barley wines, the balance is heavily towards the hops, with crystal and other malts providing support.

(7)	Cervejaria Colorado Vixnu Imperial	20 oz.	19	Brazil
(1104)	Avery 21 st Imperial India-Style Brown Ale	22 oz.	19	Colorado
(1102)	Singlecut Bon Bon 2x TN IPA	22 oz.	22	Queens, NY
(1)	Shmaltz R.I.P.A. Rye Double IPA	12 oz.	8	Clifton Park, NY
(4)	Captain Lawrence Palate Shifter Imperial IP	12 oz.	8	Elmsford, NY

BLACK IPA

(1103)	Southern Tier Iniquity	22 oz	18	Lakewood, NY
(7)	Ithaca 14 th Anniversary	25.4 oz.	25	Ithaca, NY

CELEBRATION BEERS

(7)	Brouwerij Corsendonk 2008	25.4 oz.	24	Belgium
(1101)	Anchor Special Ale 2012	50.7 oz.	36	California
(7)	De Dolle Brouwers De Dolle Stille Nacht 2010	25.4 oz.	97	Belgium

aged in Bordeaux Wine Barrels for 25 Months.

CERTIFIED TRAPPIST

A Trappist Beer is a beer brewed by or under control of Trappist monks. Of the world's 171 Trappist monasteries (as of April 2005), seven produce beer (six in Belgium and one in The Netherlands). These seven breweries are authorized to label their beers with the Authentic Trappist Product logo that indicates a compliance to various rules edicted by the International Trappist Association.

CERTIFIED TRAPPIST STRONG ALES

(1)	Rochefort Eight	11.2 oz.	12	Belgium
(WC)	Rochefort Eight 2013	50.7 oz.	65	Belgium

CERTIFIED TRAPPIST DUBBELS

(7)	Westmalle Dubbel	11.2 oz.	12	Belgium
(7)	Chimay Premiere Red	11.2 oz.	12	Belgium
(7)	Koningshoven La Trappe Dubbel 2012	25.4 oz.	22	Netherlands

CERTIFIED TRAPPIST TRIPELS

(7)	Achel Blonde	11.2 oz.	12	Belgium
(7)	Westmalle Tripel	11.2 oz.	12	Belgium
(7)	Chimay Cinq Cents Tripel	11.2 oz.	12	Belgium

CERTIFIED TRAPPIST QUADRUPELS

(1)	Rochefort Ten	11.2 oz.	14	Belgium
(1)	Chimay Grande Reserve	11.2 oz.	12	Belgium
(1102)	Stift Engelszell Gregorius Trappistenbier 2013	11.2 oz.	11	Austria
(7)	Koningshoven La Trappe Quadrupel 2012	25.4 oz.	22	Netherlands
(WC)	Koningshoven La Trappe Quadrupel 2012	12.7 oz.	35	Netherlands

Oak Aged Batch 11. Super Limited, aged in 55% Used Malbec barrels 20% New French oak- medium toast, 20% New French oak-high toast and 5% Acacia wood.

TRAPPIST STYLE ABBEY ALES

ABBEY DUBBELS

These are dark, malty, yeasty strong ales in the Trappist tradition, but produced (mainly) by secular brewers. Dubbels range between 6.5-8% abv, and have a dark brown, cloudy colour, and a palate mixing malt, a lush fruitiness, and yeast. They are typically bottle-conditioned.

(1001) Troegs Jovial	12.7 oz.	8	PA
(WC) Ommegang Abbey Ale cave-aged Howe Cavern 2009	25.4 oz.	39	Cooperstown, NY
(WC) Ommegang Abbey Ale 2011	3 liters	65	Cooperstown, NY
(7) Brasserie Dupont Moinette Brune 2015	25.4 oz.	24	Belgium
(1102) Paradox Brewery Plum Point Belgian Dubbel	25.4 oz.	24	Schroon Lake, NY

ABBEY TRIPELS

Like other abbey ales, Tripels are strong, yeasty-malty beers. But they are also pale, and have a notable hop profile. Hop bitterness may be higher than a typical abbey ale, up to 45IBUs. But the finish is where the hops really shine, as tripels should finish fairly dry. Otherwise, maltiness is still essential to the style, and the assertive yeast note typical of all abbey ales will be more apparent in tripels, since they do not have the rich dark malts to distract the palate. Alcohol flavours feature more prominently in Tripels than in just about any other style.

(4) Allagash Tripel	12 oz.	6	Maine
(7) Allagash James Bean Bourbon Barrel	25.4 oz.	29	Maine
(1102) Defiant Tripel	25.4 oz.	18	Pearl River, NY
(7) Brasserie Dupont Moinette Blonde	11.2 oz.	11	Belgium
(7) Bockor Omer. Traditional Blonde	25.4 oz.	24	Belgium
(1102) Brasserie d'Chouffe Houblon Dobbelen	25.4 oz.	24	Belgium
(7) Captain Lawrence Golden Delicious 2015	12 oz.	10	Elmsford, NY

ABBEY QUADRUPELS

Quadrupel, is the name given to ultra-strong Trappist and abbey ales. The name Abt was pioneered to describe Westvleteren and the beer that would become St. Bernardus. Quadrupel was pioneered by La Trappe. Abts are the darker of the two, with more rich, deep fruity notes. Quads are paler, with corresponding peachy notes. Neither have much in the way of hop, and both are very strong and malty. Though both are bottle-conditioned, abts trend more towards yeastiness. Alcohol is very high (10+% abv) for both

(7) Ommegang Three Philosophers 2005	25.4 oz.	45	Cooperstown, NY
(7) Ommegang Three Philosophers 2006	25.4 oz.	42	Cooperstown, NY
(7) Ommegang Three Philosophers 2007	25.4 oz.	37	Cooperstown, NY
(7) Ommegang Three Philosophers 2009	25.4oz.	32	Cooperstown, NY
(7) Ommegang Three Philosophers 2010	25.4oz.	30	Cooperstown, NY
(7) Ommegang Three Philosophers 2011	25.4oz.	29	Cooperstown, NY
(7) Ommegang Three Philosophers 2012	25.4oz.	26	Cooperstown, NY

BELGIAN & BELGIAN-STYLE ALES

BELGIAN ALES

Belgian-style ales seldom fit neatly into classic beer styles, but this category represents those "session" ales (in Belgium this means under 7% abv!) that do not fit other categories. Colour ranges from golden to deep amber, with the occasional example coming in darker. Body tends to be light to medium, with a wide range of hop & malt levels. Yeastiness & acidity may also be present.

(1102)	Birrificio Le Baladin Nora	11.2 oz.	15	Italy
(7)	Brasserie Dupont Triomfbier Vooruit 100	25.4 oz.	22	Belgium
(7)	Ommegang BPA Belgian-style Pale Ale	25.4 oz.	25	Cooperstown, NY

BELGIAN STRONG ALES

Belgian Strong Ales can vary from pale to dark brown in color, darker ales may be colored with dark candy sugar. Hop flavor can range from low to high, while hop aroma is low. The beers are medium to full-bodied and have a high alcoholic character. Types of beers included here include tripels, dubbels and ultra-strong abbey ales.

(7)	Brouwerij De Leyerth Urthel Hop-It	11.2 oz	11	Netherlands
(7)	Duvel Golden Ale	12 oz.	12	Belgium
(1003)	Victory V12	25.4 oz.	19	Pennsylvania
(1101)	St Feuillien/Green Flash Biere De L'Amitie	25.4 oz.	24	Belgium
(1103)	Stone Vertical Epic 07.07.07	22 oz.	25	California
(1104)	Stone Vertical Epic 08.08.08	22 oz.	25	California
(1103)	Stone Vertical Epic 10.10.10	22 oz.	21	California
(1003)	Stone Vertical Epic 11.11.11	22 oz.	19	California
(1103)	Stone Vertical Epic 12.12.12	22oz.	19	California
(7)	Ithaca White Gold	25.4 oz.	25	Ithaca, NY
(1002)	Ommegang Adoration	25.4 oz.	25	Cooperstown, NY
(1002)	Ommegang Art Of Darkness	25.4 oz.	25	Cooperstown, NY
(700)	Brouwerij De Glazen Toren Cuvée Angélique 2011	25.4 oz.	30	Belgium
(1000)	Unibroue Édition 2005	25.4 oz.	39	Canada
(1002)	Chimay 150 Spéciale Cent Cinquante	25.4 oz.	39	Belgium
(7)	Dubuisson Scaldi's Prestige de Nuits 2011	25.4 oz.	65	Belgium

BELGIAN-STYLE ALES

BIÈRE DE GARDE

Medium bodied with hints of caramel or toffee. Cellared smell and flavor are characteristics. Color can vary from full gold to copper colored. Good head retention. The name means "beer for keeping" and is best when aged.

(1102) Ommegang Biere d'Hougomont	25.4 oz.	28	Cooperstown, NY
(7) Brassiere Gayant La Goudale	25.4 oz.	18	France
(1101) Brasserie Dupont La Biere de Beloeil	25.4 oz	24	Belgium

SAISONS

Fruity esters dominate the aroma. Clarity is good w/ a large foamy head. The addition of several spices and herbs create a complex fruity or citrusy flavor. Light to medium bodied w/ very high carbonation. Alcohol medium to high.

(1015) Brouwerij De Leyerth Urthel Saisonniere	11.2 oz.	9	Netherlands
(1003) Piccolo Birrifico Seson	11.2 oz.	14	Italy
(1101) Wild Beer Co. Bliss	11.2 oz.	18	England
(1101) Crooked Stave Surette Provision Saison 2013	12.7 oz.	18	Colorado
(1002) Hopfenstark Saison Station 55	25.4 oz.	21	Quebec
(1104) Brasserie Dupont Foret Organic	12.7 oz.	14	Belgium
(1103) Brasserie Dupont Avril Organic	25.4 oz.	22	Belgium
(7) Brasserie Dupont Avec les Bons Voeux	25.4 oz	22	Belgium
(1104) Brasserie Dupont Cuvee Dry Hopping	25.4 oz.	24	Belgium

SCOTTISH ALES & BARLEY WINES

SCOTTISH ALES

Scottish ales are generally dark, malty, full-bodied brews. Many examples have a hint of smokiness derived from the use of peated malt. 60, 70, and 80 shilling examples are all session ales under 5% abv, but the stronger "wee heavies" can range closer to 8%, with the accompanying increase in alcohol flavour and esters. Works well as an accompaniment to hearty meat and game dishes, sharp cheddar, atholl brose and shortbread.

(1004) Oskar Blues Old Chub	12 oz.	7	Colorado
(1002) Barrier 10,000 Foot Beard Imperial Scotch Ale	16.9 oz.	15	Oceanside, NY

BARLEY WINE ALES

A Barley Wine is a strong, top-fermenting ale, with an alcohol contents of at least 9% and up to 13% (or more) by volume. Hops may be hardly noticeable at all or very noticeable. Sip them out of the special glass, that will concentrate the aroma. They are excellent with cigars or with dessert.

(1003) Southern Tier Back Burner 2011	22 oz.	20	Lakewood, NY
(1102) Great Divide Old Ruffian 2010	22 oz.	20	Colorado
(7) Great Divide Old Ruffian Barrel Aged 2016	25.4 oz.	27	Colorado
(1102) Sierra Nevada Jack & Ken's 30th Anniversary	25.4 oz.	20	California
(7) Brooklyn Monster Ale 2004	12 oz.	18	Brooklyn, NY
(1000) Brooklyn Monster Ale 2005	12 oz.	16	Brooklyn, NY
(7) Brooklyn Monster Ale 2006	12 oz.	12	Brooklyn, NY
(1000) Brooklyn Monster Ale 2007	12 oz.	10	Brooklyn, NY
(7) Brooklyn Monster Ale 2009	12 oz.	9	Brooklyn, NY
(7) Green Flash Barleywine 2008	22 oz.	27	California
(1005) Keegan Ales Super Kitty 2009	34 oz.	50	Kingston, NY
(1005) Keegan Ales Super Kitty 2007	34 oz.	60	Kingston, NY
(1103) Stone Old Guardian 2010	22 oz.	20	California
(7) O' Hanlon's Thomas Hardy's Ale 2004	8.5 oz.	30	England
(7) O' Hanlon's Thomas Hardy's Ale 2017	11.2 oz.	16	England
(1101) Mikkeller Brew Dog Divine Rebel 2009	11.2 oz.	24	Scotland
(7) J.W. Lees Harvest Ale Calvados Casks 2005	9.3 oz.	20	UK
(7) J.W. Lees Harvest Ale Lagavulin Casks 2006	9.3 oz.	20	UK
(1013) J.W. Lees Harvest Ale Vintage Limited Edition 2002	9.3 oz.	22	UK
(7) The Bruery Mash Bourbon Barrel Aged 2015	25.4 oz.	37	California
(7) The Bruery White Oak Bourbon Barrel Aged 2016	25.4 oz.	29	California

SUPER RARE BARLEY WINE ALES

Ales aged in oak barrels of Italian white wines.

(WC) Le Baladin Lune Riserva Teo Musso 2010	16.9 oz.	107	Italy
(WC) Le Baladin Lune Riserva Teo Musso 2012	16.9 oz.	97	Italy

Ales aged in oak barrels of Italian red wines.

(WC) Le Baladin Terre Riserva Teo Musso 2010	16.9 oz.	107	Italy
(WC) Le Baladin Terre Riserva Teo Musso 2012	16.9 oz.	97	Italy

OLD ALE

There are three or four beer styles called Old Ale. The first is the best known - the strong dark Old Peculier style. The second type of Old Ale is a blended dark ale. At least one of the beers comprising the blend will be aged for a couple of years in wood casks. The third version of Old Ale is a form of mild – a low-gravity dark ale. Another version of Old Ale is closely related to the first.

(1104) Harviestoun Old Engine Oil Reserve "Blackest Ale"	11.2 oz.	11	Scotland
(1003) Zymatore Project Harviestoun Old Engine Oil 2014	25.4 oz.	35	Scotland

PORTERS & STOUTS, the dark stuff

PORTER

Black or chocolate malt gives the porter its dark brown color. Porters are well hopped and heavily malted. This is a medium-bodied beer. Porters can be sweet. Hoppiness can range from bitter to mild. Porters are often confused with stouts (and with good reason, but that's for another day).

(1)	Smuttynose Robust Porter	12oz.	6	New Hampshire
-----	---------------------------------	--------------	----------	----------------------

STOUT

(7)	Brasserie Dupont Monk's Stout	25.4 oz.	24	Belgium
-----	--------------------------------------	-----------------	-----------	----------------

SWEET STOUT

Dark brown to black in color. Sweet stouts come in two main varieties - milk stout and oatmeal stout. Milk stouts are made with the addition of lactose, and are sweet, low-alcohol brews. Oatmeal lends a smooth fullness of body to stouts. All of the sweet stouts are noted for their restrained roastiness in comparison with other stouts, and low hop levels.

(4)	Keegan Ales Mother's Milk	12 oz.	5	Kingston, NY
(7)	Rogue Chocolate Stout	22 oz.	18	Oregon

IMPERIAL STOUT

Imperial stouts are usually extremely dark brown to black in color with flavors that are intensely malty, deeply roasted and sometimes with accents of dark fruit (raisin, fig) or milk sourness. The bitterness is typically medium and often the low side of that. Imperial stouts are strong and often exceed 8% by volume.

(1)	Keegan Ales Joe Mama's Milk Stout	12 oz.	6	Kingston, NY
(1)	Victory Storm King Stout	12 oz.	6	Pennsylvania
(7)	Captain Lawrence Frost Monster 2015	12 oz.	11	Elmsford, NY
(1103)	Harpoon Leviathan Czernobog 2012	12 oz.	8	Massachusetts
(7)	Brooklyn Chocolate Stout Winter 2007/08	12 oz.	14	Brooklyn, NY
(7)	Brooklyn Chocolate Stout Winter 2008/09	12 oz.	12	Brooklyn, NY
(7)	Brooklyn Chocolate Stout Winter 2009/10	12 oz.	10	Brooklyn, NY
(7)	Left Hand Oak Aged imperial Stout 2007	25.4 oz	22	Colorado
(7)	Stone Imperial Russian Stout 2008	22 oz.	28	California
(1000)	Olvisolt Brugghus Lava Smoked Imperial Stout	22 oz.	19	Iceland
(7)	Evil Twin Ashtray Heart Imperial Stout	12 oz.	18	Netherlands
(1000)	Birrificio del Ducato Verdi	11.2 oz.	19	Italy
(7)	Harviestoun Ola Dubh 18 year Special Reserve 2015	11.2 oz.	22	England